- An important project of the archi stars Herzog & de Meuron for a historic Italian publishing brand.
- The project redesigns a block of Milan giving a new meaning to a crossroads of roads that connect the city center with the Monumental Cemetery and the inner ring road.
- The project highlights the structure of the building by solving the curtain walls with large windows. The interiors are in direct relationship with the external city and vice versa. The structure of the building is reduced to the essentials and transformed into modern architecture.
- GL Locatelli has designed and supplied all the anchoring details of prefabricated structural components and prefabricated concrete cladding. From the V-shaped inverted arches of the roof to the pillar coverings, the anchoring system has characterized the project site construction. The anchor is made up of standard products such as the ETA CE certified GP profiles and custom-made plates and accessories. The project demonstrates how architecture can be interpreted using industrialized prefabrication in concrete.
